On behalf of His Majesty the King of Bhutan, his Government and people, I write to convey to you our best and grateful thanks, and send you small gifts as a mark of our deep appreciation.

Your Excellency,

I am directed to write and say that His Majesty the King of Bhutan, the Government and people of Bhutan wish to convey to Your Excellency and to the Government of Australia their sincere thanks for the invitation extended to Bhutan to participate as observers at the 14th Meeting of the Consultative Committee of the Colombo Plan, and above all their deep gratitude for the guidance and strong support to our Delegates by the Australian Delegation in applying for Bhutan's full membership within the Colombo Plan.

We rejoice that our membership was obtained while the meeting of the Colombo Plan Consultative Committee was held in your country and that our Delegation received immeasurable kindness and hospitality from members of your Government and Delegation, and from each and every Australian that they were privileged to meet. We hope that our membership, so warmly encouraged by your Delegation, will mean not only our benefit from the Colombo Plan, but that Bhutan may, in time, play a worthy part within it.

The leader of our Delegation, Miss Tashi Dorji, informs us that, in addition to this visit to Australia being an auspicious one for fulfilling our membership in the Colombo Plan, she says that it was also an illuminating one for comprehension of your people's way of life and of the invaluable contribution your great country is making towards peace and progress for yourselves and for all around you.

I am sending some hand woven materials, a "chaka" and a sword made in Bhutan. Allow me to present them to Your Excellency for His Majesty the King of Bhutan and from the Government and people of Bhutan as a token of their admiration for your great and progressive country and its people under the chosen and distinguished leadership of Your Excellency, and of gratitude for the goodness and help received by Bhutan through their Delegation from the Government and people of Australia.

With my warmest regards,

Yours sincerely,

PRIME MINISTER OF BHUTAN
The Honourable Sir Garfield Barwick Q.C., M.P.,
Minister for External Affairs,
Canberra,
AUSTRALIA.

Your Excellency,

Our Delegation of Observers to the 14th Meeting of the Consultative Committee of the Colombo Plan held in Melbourne have returned with Bhutan admitted as full members. We know that this could not have been achieved this year without the sympathetic guidance and invaluable support and advice given by your Excellency, Senator the Honourable J.G. Gorton, Mr. W.G.A. Landale, Mr. J.K. Waller, Mr. L.J. Arnott and all the members of the Australian Delegation.

On behalf of His Majesty the King of Bhutan and the people and Government of Bhutan, I thank you all most sincerely for this and for the great goodwill, hospitality and kindness bestowed upon our delegation. That, Your Excellency, in the midst of your many duties, found time to take a personal interest in our Delegates and honoured them with kind words and beautiful gifts from the Government of Australia, in addition to causing the Australian Delegation to take the leading part in attaining full membership for Bhutan within the Colombo Plan evokes our deepest gratitude.

We are assured that our membership in the Colombo Plan which you have been pleased to support will open for our country a vista of peaceful progress and help us to confront our problems with courage and aspirations.

Miss Tashi Dorji has told us that both during the Conference and throughout the post conference tours so kindly arranged by your Government, our Delegates were able to meet Australians in many walks of life and visit homes, farms, and certain institutions for cultural education and scientific research which has impressed upon them and us, the warm spirit and kindliness of your people, the material prosperity of your country and the important role your country is taking in affairs in South and South East Asia and in all this modern international world under the imaginative wisdom of statesmen like Your Excellency and members of your Government.

As a mark of our esteem and gratitude, please accept these few gifts from our country sent by His Majesty the King of Bhutan and by the Government and people of Bhutan.

With my warmest regards,

Yours sincerely,

PRIME MINISTER OF BHUTAN
REMEMBERING THE COLOMBO PLAN (1962) IN AUSTRALIA

By Ashi Tashi Dorji

In 1962 Bhutan received an invitation from His Excellency the Prime Minister of Australia Sir Robert Gordon Menzies to attend the 14th Meeting of the Consultative Committee of the Colombo Plan that was to be held in Melbourne.

Bhutan’s Prime Minister Lyonchen Jigme Palden Dorji my late brother and some officials were to attend the meeting.

However, just then the China India Border War broke out and Lyonchen Jigme decided it was more important for him to remain in Bhutan at this critical time.

It was decided that an all women’s delegation from Bhutan would attend the Colombo Plan Meeting in Melbourne, Australia, which consisted of myself, Tessla Dorji (Prime Minister Jigme Dorji’s wife) and Ms. Benita Dunne, Secretary to Lyonchen Jigme Palden Dorji. Bhutan was to attend as observer status, and would be admitted as a member only after a period of 2 years as per the guidelines of the Colombo Plan.

We prepared a small brochure on Bhutan with what little information we had at the time and with the help of a few friends had it printed in Hong Kong. I had also prepared a short speech.

~*~

The flight from Hong Kong to Australia was a very long and arduous one and I remember that we landed at a small arid place, perhaps Darwin, and then to Melbourne where the meeting was to be held.

In Australia we received great kindness and hospitality from the government and people of Australia. We were thoroughly spoilt and enjoyed our visit greatly. On the final day of the Colombo Plan Meeting, I had to give my speech and was extremely nervous, but the audience was most kind and I was overwhelmed to receive a standing ovation and many people came to congratulate me.
At the luncheon hosted I think by the Japanese Delegation, where Senator J.G. Gorton was present, I made a request to Senator Gorton to kindly make Bhutan a member of the Colombo Plan that year, and to give Bhutan his kind support and assistance in fulfilling our wish.

Senator Gorton immediately went around the room to discuss the matter informally with the other delegates to the Colombo Plan and through the warm support and great kindness of the Australian Government and Senator Gorton, Bhutan was accepted as a full member of the Colombo Plan in 1962.

At a large banquet held in the National Library, I was presented to the Governor General of Australia Lord Richard Casey.

Lord Casey had known my father Gyongzim Raja Sonam Tobgye Dorji when Lord Casey was Governor of Bengal, so Lord Casey was especially kind and affectionate to me.

Lady Casey gave me a beautiful water color painting of the Darjeeling Race Course at Lebong which she had painted herself, and which is still with me.

There was also a ball which I did not attend. But Tessla Dorji attended it. She was a beautiful dancer and I was told that she charmed everyone, and was the Belle of the Ball.

Before we left Melbourne, His Excellency the Prime Minister Sir Robert Gordon Menzies presented me with a most beautiful Australian Opal Brooch which he pinned himself on my dress.

We were greatly moved by the great kindness and care we received from the Government of Australia and every Australian we met towards our delegation and to our Kingdom of Bhutan.

I wish that the great friendship and cooperation between our Kingdom and people of Bhutan and the Australian Government and people will ever flourish and grow from strength to strength.

Tashi Delek!

HIS EXCELLENCY GENERAL SIR DALLAS BROOKS

GOVERNOR OF VICTORIA

Arranged by the
GOVERNMENT OF VICTORIA

in honour of the
DELEGATES ATTENDING THE
COLOMBO PLAN CONFERENCE

National Gallery of Victoria
Monday, 12th November, 1962, at 8.30 p.m.
The National Gallery of Victoria, which is entirely a State Institution, was founded in 1861.

The first collections consisting of plaster casts and other forms of reproductions, were purchased with a sum of £2,000 voted by the Trustees of the Public Library in 1850 and it was not until 1864 that the first picture Gallery was opened to the public. Ten years later the building of the main Gallery was completed more or less in its present form—a considerable achievement for a city then less than fifty years old. The National Gallery has had a fine tradition of benefactors and has received gifts of money and works of art both from Australia and overseas.

The names of Connell, Kent, Templeton and Spensley celebrate some of the most generous benefactors but the most important gift to the Institution is the bequest of Mr. Alfred Felton which came to us in 1905. Since then nearly two million pounds have been spent on works of art of all kinds and the visitor can judge the quality and number of these works by a glance at the labels throughout the Gallery. Since the Felton Bequest, Melbourne has received a further generous gift from the Estate of Mr. Everard Studley Miller and portraits acquired under the terms of the Miller Bequest can now be seen in the McArthur Gallery. The collection of this Gallery ranges from portraits, prints and drawings and sculpture to furniture, textiles, metal work and ceramics and there is a particularly important collection of Chinese and Japanese Art.

Among the masterpieces of the collections are works by Rembrandt, Tiepolo, Titian, Gainsborough, Reynolds, Turner and William Blake and we are particularly proud of our great collection of engravings by the German artist Albrecht Dürer.

Only a small proportion of the collections can be seen in the present building and it is therefore pleasant to record that the State Government is at present engaged in building a great new Gallery in St. Kilda Road near Princes Bridge which, when it opens, will house the collections of this Institution in a way worthy of their quality.

Through the National Gallery of Victoria, Australia is able to show one aspect of the vital cultural activity for which this country is now being known throughout the world.

Dear Miss Dorji,

I was delighted to receive the beautiful gifts you sent me this morning. I shall treasure them as a happy souvenir of our meeting and hope that we may meet again in Bhutan some day. The Bhutanese stamps are particularly welcome as my wife is an ardent collector.

I shall certainly read the papers on your five year plan and see that they are brought to the notice of the Department of External Affairs and the Government.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Miss Douglas,

Thank you very much indeed for sending me the summary of your five-year Development Plan. I shall certainly look forward to reading it, and I shall take it back to London so that others may also see it there.

It is more difficult to convey to you adequately my thanks for the most lovely silver bowl. In my travels in the East (which I hope have not yet Extended to Bhutan), I have often seen charming pieces of silver. But I do not possess any, and this particularly beautiful thing will be a lasting delight to me and to my wife — though she, alas, will not be able to share my memory of my acquaintance with the kind donor. Thank you very much indeed.

I am enclosing your file whether 10.0 am tomorrow Saturday would be convenient to you for our meeting.

Yours very sincerely,

Amah High Commissioner to New Delhi

India
Paro, Bhutan.

Your Excellency,

In the tragedy that has befallen us in the loss of our beloved brother your letter of sympathy and your kind words and thoughts for Jigmi have given us great comfort and courage. On behalf of Mother and the family I thank Your Excellency most sincerely.

Jigmi’s last visit to Delhi was a good one and in the course of this visit he was especially happy and encouraged after his meeting with Your Excellency and we are grateful to you for this. During the last year or two Jigmi has had very much heavier burdens of responsibility and anxiety, and in the midst of this to find at least some persons outside Bhutan who understood the country’s problems and gave him constructive advice and encouragement was something to be considered with deep appreciation.

Jigmi never professed to be a thinker or a seer but where our country was concerned he had vision and his outlook had a universal perspective. Inspite of ill-health, great difficulties and often bitter disappointments he was able with his wonderful spirit and energy to achieve many of his ideals.

As you know, Sir James, Bhutan is not all that outside people would wish it to be just now, but we, who have known the past, believe that we have accumulated many benefits which we owe to Jigmi. There was promise of so much more if only he had been spared to live a little longer. In his loyal and untiring endeavours for the well-being of the people and country we see everywhere around us so many works and projects started by him and we are saddened to think that he is no longer among us for the further working out of his plans. Ours is a country just breaking through. We lack trained and even untrained personnel, and the unnecessary loss of a person like Jigmi with his outstanding abilities and love for the people is a great loss. It is not an easy task to light the way forward for a people steeped in tradition and with a past such as ours but Jigme did this admirably and had the love and complete confidence of the lamas and the working public, and throughout this sorrowful episode the greatest solace has been the sympathetic response of these people who realise the meaning of his loss.

Seeing the mountains, the rivers and the peaceful and beautiful scenery of our country it is difficult to believe that such things could happen here but I suppose that even in Bhutan we must now have our share of irrational people whose thoughts and actions lead to such unkind ends.
Before closing, Your Excellency, I would like to say how glad we were to know from you that the Government of Australia has decided to give us some caravans to be tried out as a possible form of accommodation for foreign experts. We realise that the assistance we receive from Australia depends a lot on the recommendation of yourself and your staff. Please accept our grateful thanks.

In order to ensure that these caravans, on arrival, can be conveyed to their destinations without delay I have spoken to "Dantak" Border Road Forces who are at present engaged in widening the Phuntsholing-Thimphu road. They are confident that they can get the caravans here provided they know in advance the weight and dimensions of the caravans so that they can widen and adjust the bends and parts of the roads where and if necessary. Therefore, may I trouble you Sir James for these figures? — or if you could instruct your Colombo Plan Attache to kindly send me these figures.

I am also anxious to know whether the Australian brick and agricultural experts whom Mr. Maudouit spoke to me about will be coming.

I do not know if Mr. Maudouit has left for Australia, but earlier this year I told him that I would be filling in application forms for an Australian architect named Snodgras who came twice to Bhutan — once with the High Commissioner for Canada in Ceylon, Mr. James George. Mr. Snodgras was keen to work in Bhutan under Colombo Plan and Mr. George too thought it would be good for us. He promised to send me his curriculum vitae but he has not done so. Perhaps he has changed his mind.

The Australian Government have been so generous to us that I am afraid to direct at them too many requests for assistance. However, where training is concerned I was very interested to read a Colombo Plan press feature “Australia’s Aid to her Neighbours” in which Sir Garfield Barwick writes “All of the 14 Asian members of the Colombo Plan, except the newly admitted member, Bhutan, have taken advantage of Australian officers of training.....” and “......... the first offer of training has been made to the Kingdom of Bhutan”. Seeing this, I feel we may ask for training officers once our housing problem is solved.

The ten International Harvester Trucks from Australia are proving most useful in the Southern Division. The other ten are ready for despatch from Calcutta to Phuntsholing and I hope to send soon a report on them to Your Excellency’s Colombo Plan Attache.

With our warm regards,

Yours sincerely,

Tashi Dorji

Dear Kesong,

I am fine. Her Majesty's health is quickly improving and her family and children are all well.

I arrived here from Bangkok on the 19th after the end of the Conference. Bangkok is much more crowded than before but it looks very nice and the air is very comfortable. There are nice rooms.

It is wonderful to relax after the tempest. 60991 on the Conference - rush, rush, rush! But I made good friends at the Conference.

I met the King and Queen of Thailand in their beautiful palaces.
